Attorneys at Law
Returning Value to Fiduciaries

Securities fraud and corporate misconduct have caused investors billions of dollars in losses. At Lieff Cabraser, we are committed to holding parties responsible for financial fraud accountable.

We have the experience, expertise, and resources necessary for handling significant, complex cases and for litigating against the world’s largest corporations.

We have represented the nation’s largest public pension funds, Taft-Hartley funds, private institutional investors, and high net worth individual investors in securities and financial fraud cases. We seek to obtain meaningful recoveries for our clients and appropriate governance reforms at the companies in which they invest.

The Path to Justice
Lieff Cabraser takes a tailored approach to investigating and prosecuting financial fraud. After thorough research and analysis of the facts, we determine feasible litigation options, conduct loss and damage calculations, and develop litigation strategies that respond to the unique circumstances of each client and case.

Our track record of successfully litigating financial fraud cases spans four decades, including trying two securities fraud class actions to verdict. We are one of few plaintiffs’ law firms that possess this experience.
“Our passion is holding accountable those whose fraud and misconduct have robbed investors of billions, no matter how wealthy or powerful those responsible for the losses are.”

Recognized by Best Lawyers and Super Lawyers as a top lawyer in securities law

Comprehensive Services

Lieff Cabraser represents clients in securities class actions, shareholder derivative actions, and direct (non-class) cases. In addition to litigation, we offer, without charge:

- Investment portfolio monitoring
- Expert case evaluation
- Prompt and sophisticated analysis of recoverable damages for client losses
- Corporate governance advice

Our securities practice offers real-time monitoring of portfolios to spot and track losses due to fraud. Sophisticated, web-based, client-accessible tracking enables quick identification and calculation of losses to determine when legal action is appropriate.

We advise clients on how to raise governance standards at companies that are the target of securities cases, making recommendations on issues such as board function and composition, board compensation, and executive compensation.

Decade-long Manipulation of FX fees

We were one of three firms that served on the Plaintiffs’ Executive Committee in consolidated litigation against The Bank of New York Mellon Corporation (“BNY Mellon”). For more than a decade, as alleged in the complaint, BNY Mellon consistently charged its clients hidden and excessive mark-ups on FX rates for trades done, using “range of the day” pricing, rather than FX rates when the trades were actually executed.

In the course of the litigation, we defeated, in its entirety, BNY Mellon’s motion to dismiss claims brought on behalf of ERISA and other funds under California’s and New York’s consumer protection laws.

In late 2015, the Court granted final approval to a $504 million global settlement of the litigation, which included a $335 million settlement in the consumer class case.

Unlawfully backdated stock options

We served as Lead Counsel in the Broadcom Corporation Derivative Litigation charging defendants intentionally manipulated their stock option grant dates. Despite a federal judge throwing out the government’s criminal case against former Broadcom executives and co-founders that arose from the same misconduct, we persevered, defeating defendants’ efforts to derail the litigation, and ultimately settled the complex case on the eve of trial.

The total settlements in the litigation, valued at $197 million, combined with an earlier $118 million partial settlement, constituted the third-largest settlement of a shareholder derivative case involving stock options backdating.
Lieff Cabraser recommends litigation only when liability is clear and damages are substantial and recoverable.

We prepare and litigate each case in anticipation of trial. We believe this approach provides our clients with the best settlement leverage against defendants.

Direct actions equal higher recoveries
When appropriate, we advise clients to opt-out of securities class actions and pursue independent, direct actions to maximize their recovery. We have obtained recoveries for our clients in opt-out litigation that far exceeded what they would have received from the class action settlements.

Recovering assets from individual defendants
The firm has an outstanding track record of achieving recoveries from the personal assets of individual defendants—an effective way to ensure meaningful corporate governance reform. We have also obtained significant recoveries from culpable third parties, including company auditors.

Elevating corporate standards
Driven by a strong sense of social responsibility, Lieff Cabraser’s lawyers and staff uphold the highest standards of professional conduct. In each case we litigate, we seek to promote greater corporate responsibility and to enhance the integrity of the marketplace for all investors.
“Justice is a bone-deep urge toward fairness in things large and small. It’s the human journey toward a better world.”

Managing Partner
Recognized by Super Lawyers as one of the top lawyers in the U.S. in securities law
“This really was an extraordinary case in which plaintiff’s counsel performed, at no small risk, an extraordinary service, and they ought to be compensated for it. They were fought tooth and nail at every step of the road. They did a wonderful job in this case, and I’ve seen a lot of wonderful lawyers over the years. This was a great performance.”

—U.S. District Court Judge Lewis A. Kaplan, in In re Bank of New York Mellon Foreign Exchange Transactions Fraud Litigation

“Counsel for the plaintiffs did a very good job in a very tough situation of achieving an excellent recovery for the class here. You were opposed by extremely capable lawyers. It was an uphill battle. The recovery that was achieved for the class in this second trial is remarkable, almost a hundred percent.”

—U.S. District Court Judge Susan Illston, in Claghorn v. Edsaco

“In these cases, 25 cents on the dollar is considered to be a magnificent recovery, and this is [almost] a hundred percent.”

—U.S. District Court Judge Vaugh R. Walker (ret.), in In re California Micro Devices Securities Litigation

“The class was well served at a good price by excellent counsel... We have class counsel who’s one of the most foremost law firms in the country in both securities law and class actions.”
